

Pump motors are particularly suitable for the following pump types:

- Close-coupled pumps
- Industrial pumps
- Submersible pumps

With regard to the ambient conditions of the pump motors, it is important to ensure that the motor is located outside the pumped medium, i.e. the motor must be selected in accordance with the degree of protection. Further requirements are available on request.